Dear Minister Wiseman:

In an effort to work collaboratively with government, Arthritis Consumer Experts and the Canadian Arthritis Patient Alliance are writing to bring your attention to the June 20, 2007 Common Drug Review's Canadian Expert Drug Advisory Committee (CEDAC) recommendation that adalimumab (Humira®) be added to provincial drug benefit plans for people with active ankylosing spondylitis, who have had an inadequate response to at least three different nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDS) and, in patients with peripheral joint involvement who have failed to respond to methotrexate or sulfasalazine (See attached CEDAC recommendation.)

Currently, people living with ankylosing spondylitis in Newfoundland and Labrador have no biologic medications available to them on the provincial drug reimbursement formulary. Adalimumab (Humira®) has been under review since approximately November 2006 yet has still not been approved. The situation is the same for the other two biologic response modifiers on the market that have all been under review for significant periods of time. This continues to be unacceptable to the arthritis community and should be to the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador, too.

Given this strong CEDAC recommendation and your Ministry's support for the Common Drug Review process, we urge you, as Minister of Health, to take the immediate necessary steps to have adalimumab listed on the provincial drug benefit plan for people with ankylosing spondylitis. We remind you that this therapy is intended to treat people with ankylosing spondylitis. Providing a timely reimbursement listing for this medication will ensure that people in Newfoundland and Labrador living with ankylosing spondylitis are able to reduce the pain and disability associated with delaying treatment and improve their quality of life.

We thank you in advance for considering our request, and await word from you on Newfoundland and Labrador's listing decision for adalimumab for ankylosing spondylitis.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Koehn
